UIL Rule: Extracurricular Activities provides that a student shall be suspended from participation in any extracurricular activity sponsored or sanctioned by the school district or the University Interscholastic League during the first three weeks of the grade reporting periods after grade reporting periods in which the student received a grade lower than the equivalent of 70 on a scale of 100 in any academic class other than identified honors or advance class. After a six-week grade reporting period or after the first six weeks of a semester or grade reporting period, in the case of a district with a reporting period longer than six weeks, a child who receives a grade below 70 is suspended from participation in extracurricular activities for three weeks, and for three-week intervals thereafter if all grades are not above 70.

6. Any drug, chemical or feed additive administered on the show grounds and/or 30 days before show must be immediately reported in writing to show officials and shall include date, product, amount, route, administered by, medical reason for administration and withdrawal time. Livestock Show & Auction Etiquette

Preparing your livestock project for a show begins months in advance. You should be knowledgeable of your species and prepared to answer any questions the judge may ask. You must exhibit good showmanship and be prepared to win and lose gracefully.

After all the time and effort that you put into raising your project, you want to make sure you have everything you need once you arrive at the fairgrounds. Being prepared will help you be less nervous and make your experience enjoyable. Investing in a box or tote is wise to keep all your show supplies together and in one place.

Packing certain items away in your box could help make your show experience run smoother as you are preparing for your time in the ring. Some of the items you need may be grooming combs or brushes, files, feed and feed containers, a water bottle, bowl, bucket or tub, pitchfork, rake, square shovel, your show stick, show halter, tie out halter, lead rope, and a general first aid kit that is specific to your project are some of the necessities which may be needed on show day.

Your show clothes should be neat and modest. Depending on the weather, a pair of rubber boots may come in handy, however, not while in the show ring). A small first aid kit is always handy.

While in the Show Ring - Respect the Judge.

When given the opportunity shake the judge's hand and thank him/her for their time - no matter the outcome. Look your judge in the eye and be respectful of what he/she is telling you. If you personally disagree with your placings – please reserve that conversation for your immediate family in the privacy of your own personal space. The fairground is not that space.

Judges take time from their daily jobs and families to be here with you because they respect and believe in the values the livestock show teaches you. They are here to help you better yourself and your show experience.

Solicitation of Buyers:

You are encouraged to invite potential buyers to the sale prior to auction date. You should start looking for your potential auction buyers during the months leading up to the auction. Potential buyers are employers, family, friends, and businesses that you and your family support. Only contact potential buyers with whom you have a personal connection.

Invite your potential buyer to come out and support the Junior Livestock Auction and bid on your project. There are various ways to invite potential buyers to the auction: cards, letters, a phone call, or a personal visit. Be sure to include your name, information about your project, your experiences with your project (a photo is always nice), your parents' names, your club information, along with the date, time, and location of the auction.

Understanding the Auction Sales Process:

This is an actual livestock auction. You are selling your project! Once you step in the auction ring you have relinquished ownership of your show project.

After you have sold your project, you are encouraged to go into the stands to shake your buyers' hand and thank them directly. You need to ask them when a good time would be to take your auction buyer photograph with them. (DO NOT leave the grounds without taking this photo). Exhibitors that choose to sell their projects in the Junior Livestock Auction are NOT to ask their buyer for their project back. Once your project has been sold it is the property of the buyer. The new buyer will choose what to do with their purchase. Any exhibitor, parent or guardian, or family member, or acquaintance of exhibitor that approaches the buyer to ask for the project to be donated back to the exhibitor will forfeit exhibitors auction check and cause the exhibitor a one year suspension form all MCFLA activities - No exceptions! This is a rule. You will be contacted by the MCFLA Sales Office if your project has been donated to you.

Meat Pen Rabbit Exhibitors:

Most meat pen rabbits are donated back to the exhibitor after the sale – HOWEVER this is not always the case. You need to ask your buyer what they want to do with their purchase –

- Do they want the meat? If so, you will need to deliver the three processed show rabbits to the new buyer.
- Do they want the three live rabbits?

If so, you will need to deliver the three live rabbits to the new buyer.

- Do they want to donate the project to the exhibitor? REMEMBER this is their choice – not yours. DON'T ASK. If so, you may take your project home on Sunday morning.

Poultry Exhibitors:

Most poultry are donated back to the exhibitor after the sale – HOWEVER this is not always the case. You need to ask your buyer what they want to do with their purchase –

- Do they want the meat? If so, you will need to deliver the three processed show poultry to the new buyer.
- Do they want a $25.00 HEB Gift Card? If so, you will need to deliver a $25.00 Gift Card to the new buyer. This may be included with your thank you card.
- Do they want three live birds? If so, you will need to deliver the three live show poultry to the new buyer.
- Are they donating them to the exhibitor? REMEMBER this is their choice – not yours. DON'T ASK. If so, they are yours. Champions will need to take them home on Sunday morning.

Steer, Lamb, Goat, and Swine Exhibitors:

The buyer now owns your project – it is no longer yours! At this time one of three things will happen-

- a. Your buyer can take the project home and keep it.
- b. Your buyer can send the project to one of the packing plants.
- c. Your buyer can donate the project back to you. “If” the new owner donates the project back to you, then you will be notified by the MCFLA Sales Office and asked if you intend to take your project home or put it on the truck.

You or any member of your family or a friend CANNOT ask your buyer for your project back. This is a rule. You will be contacted by the MCFLA Sales Office if your project has been donated to you.

After the Show and Auction:

You must send a thank you note to your respectable buyer, buckle sponsor or donor. This shows how grateful you are. And it's a rule!

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. The TIN provided must match the name given on line 1 to avoid backup withholding. For individuals, this is generally your social security number (SSN). However, for a resident alien, sole proprietor, or disregarded entity, see the instructions for Part I, later. For other entities, it is your employer identification number (EIN). If you do not have a number, see How to get a TIN, later.

Note: If the account is in more than one name, see the instructions for line 1. Also see What Name and Number To Give the Requester for guidelines on whose number to enter.

For real estate transactions, item 2 does not apply. For mortgage interest paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, contributions to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA), and generally, payments other than interest and dividends, you are not required to sign the certification, but you must provide your correct TIN.
